

Mission Statement

To create a meaningful parks and recreation system that provides quality leisure services, promotes the natural environment, local economy and the health of the community and strengthens the diversity of a democratic society.

2001 Master Plan

table of contents

executive summary

introduction	15
chapter one:existing conditions	21
Project Setting.....	23
Existing Parks and Recreation System.....	23
Natural Setting.....	34
Cultural and Historical Resources.....	40
Political and Planning Districts.....	44
chapter two: plan development process	51
Vision and Goals.....	53
Parks Planning Districts	54
chapter three: guiding principles	69
General Principles.....	71
Open Space Principles.....	78
Park Land Principles.....	83
Recreation Facilities Principles.....	87
chapter four: standards and needs analyses	89
Park Land Standards and Analysis.....	91
Recreation Facilities Standards and Analysis.....	98
Programs Analysis.....	106
chapter five: the grand design	113
Plan Framework: Linkages.....	115
Development Concept: Three-Trail Loop System.....	116
Neighborhood Service: Eight-Block Radius.....	120
Signature Facilities.....	125
chapter six: policy framework and action plan	129
Four-Point Strategy.....	131
Goal One: Citywide Linkage of Parks, Open Space, and Natural Areas.....	132
Goal Two: Facilities and Programs to Serve All User Groups.....	142
Goal Three: Advocate, Build, and Maintain.....	157
chapter seven: acquisition	167
Target Areas.....	169
Relationship to the Four-Point Strategy.....	171
Acquisition Criteria.....	175
chapter eight: value and phasing	177
Value and Phasing.....	179
Funding Strategies.....	185

Benchmark Cities Comparison	188
appendix a: glossary of terms	191
appendix b: soils	195
appendix c: parks planning area demographics	201
appendix d: recreation facilities maps	211
appendix e: value assessment	225
acknowledgements	233